

CLE SCHEDULE FOR OCTOBER

LAST MONTH FOR TRIAL PREPARATION

October is the last month that I will be offering the Trial Preparation CLE seminar in North Carolina. I have really enjoyed the chance to talk with so many lawyers and paralegals who are interested in trial work and all that goes into being a good and honest trial lawyer. But beginning in November, I am going to be offering new and different programs with the opportunity for both lawyers and paralegals to get up to six hours of CLE credit in one day.

The October morning programs will feature two hours of Ethics and Professionalism and one hour of the mental health requirement for a total of three CLE hours. The Ethics hours, representing a continued change of this program, is titled "I was from Venus and my Lawyers were from Mars". It is a very personal and detailed story of the time when I was a client with two friends as my lawyers. It is a story of how they talked me into going out the front, as opposed to the back, door. I will tell you, from my perspective of what clients really want from their lawyers. The answers may surprise you.

The afternoon program is about Trial Preparation and practice, as told from my perspective of the Jeffrey MacDonald murder case. Though it is an old case, it is still open, with motions pending in Federal Court. I believe this case has almost everything in it that a lawyer or paralegal might face in the future.

The schedule for October is as follows:

7 – High Point; 8 – Fayetteville; 9 – Raleigh; 14 – Greenville; 21 – Chapel Hill; 22- Winston-Salem; 23 – Charlotte; 28 – Asheville; 29 - Salisbury

I hope you will be able to attend one of these programs and bring a friend. If you do bring someone with you, there is a reduction in price for you. And with gas being the way it is, you can save more money by having me come to you rather than your driving elsewhere.

Finally, with all my marketing in this state, the CLE Board wishes me to state that in 1993, I turned in my license to practice law, and the Bar subsequently issued a letter of disbarment.
